"August Flower"

Mrs. Sarah M. Black of Seneca, Mo., during the past two years has been affected with Neuralgia of the Head, Stomach and Womb, and writes: "My food did not seem to strengthen me at all and my appetite was very variable. My face was yellow, my head dull, and I had such pains in my left side. In the morning when I got up I would have a flow of mucus in the mouth, and a bad, bitter taste. Sometimes my breath became short, and I had such queer, tumbling, palpitating sensations around the heart. I ached all day under the shoulder blades, in the left side, and down the back of my limbs. It seemed to be worse in the wet, cold weather of Winter and Spring; and whenever the spells came on, my feet and hands would turn cold, and I could get no sleep at all. I tried everywhere, and got no relief before using August Flower. Then the change came. It has done me a wonderful deal of good during the time I have taken it and is working a complete cure."

Dr. A. FONTAINE,

34 West 14th St., N. Y.

Unexplained.

In Captain King's "Trial of a Staff Officer" an amusing story is told of General Upton, who was at one time commandant of cadets at West Point. The commandant's tent was a great place for fighting battles over again.

One day six or eight of us were gathered there, and the floor was held by one of those blatant gentlemen who, having graduated before the civil war, and having had just as good a chance as the gallant band of ambitious young lieutenants who rose to be generals, had preferred the safety, ease and slow promotion of mustering and disbursing duty, and whose only brevet was for the service of the "recruitment of the armies of the United States."

For some reason or other such men have often been prone to disparage the services of successful men, and to attribute the promotion over their heads of such soldiers as Upton and Custer to political influence. So Major was on this day holding forth about luck in the line, ending with this startling statement:

"Well, now, Upton's another instance. Of course, I don't mean to say but what you fought all right, old fellow, when you got a chance, but you won't deny that there were fellows who went through the whole war with the regulars, stuck to their regiments or battalions, got wounded time and again, and only got a brevet; but here you are a lieutenant colonel, and never got a scratch!"

Considering the fact that Upton had been wounded in three different engagements, he might have been excused for making a pointed reply, but he only smiled quietly, as he sat writing at his desk, and said:

"Well, there are lots of men who think just as you do, I've no doubt."

Different Kinds of Gold.

"Most people suppose," says an assayer, "that all gold is alike when refined, but this is not the case. An experienced man can tell at a glance from what part of the world a gold piece comes, and in some cases from what part of a particular gold district the metal was obtained. The Australian gold, for instance, is distinctly redder than the California, and this difference in color is always perceptible, even when the gold is 1,000 fine. Again, the gold obtained from the placers is yellower than that which is taken directly from the quartz. Why this should be the case is one of the mysteries of metallurgy, for the placer gold all comes from the veins. The Ural gold is the reddest found anywhere."

"Few people know the real color of gold, as it is seldom seen unless heavily alloyed, which renders it redder than when pure. The purest coins ever made were the fifty dollar pieces that used to be common in California. Their coinage was abandoned for two reasons: First, because the loss of abrasion was so great, and, secondly, because the interior would be bored out and lead substituted, the difference in weight being too small to be readily noticed in so large a piece. These octagonal coins were the most valuable ever struck."—New York Tribune.

"Thou Diest on Point of Fox." Fox blades were celebrated all through the Sixteenth and Seventeenth centuries for their excellent temper, and mention of them is frequent in English drama. This is their history: There was a certain Julian del Rei, believed to be a Morisco, who set up a forge at Totodo in the early part of the Sixteenth century and became famous for the excellence of his sword blades, which were regarded as the best of Toledo. That city had for many ages previous been renowned for sword making, it being supposed that the Moors introduced the art, as they did so many good things, from the east. Julian del Rei's mark was a little dog, which came to be taken for a fox, and so the "fox blade," or simply "fox" for any good sword. See "Henry V." act iv., scene 4, "Thou diest on point of fox." The brand came to be imitated in other places, and there are Solingen blades of comparatively modern manufacture which still bear the little dog of Julian del Rei.—Notes and Queries.

Sick Room Vagaries.

"It is curious to notice the moral effect of illness upon people," said a prominent physician the other day. "For instance among my patients are a preacher who swears when he is sick and a gambler who prays. A successful and well known business man will not go to his bed when illness attacks him because of a morbid fear that he will never rise from it again. A lady of not the prettiest character has all her jewelry and fine dresses laid on the foot of her bed, I suppose to keep her mind from terrifying thoughts. A hundred other peculiarities are developed, but the most remarkable one to me is that of a professional man who reads up in current literature when he is really seriously ill because he hasn't time to do it when he's well."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Two Boys.

A neatly dressed boy fell into the Harlem river just below the bridge yesterday morning about breakfast time. He was pulled out and went home crying. In the afternoon a smaller boy fell into the river from a boat house float. He got out without assistance and went out in the sun to dry. "I don't want the 'old man' to get on to me," he said.—New York Advertiser.

WHAT OF NEVADA?

The Chicago Inter-Ocean recites the fact as shown by the census that in 1880 the population of Nevada was 62,266, and only 45,761 in 1890, a decrease of 16,505 or 26.51 per cent. in ten years.

The Inter-Ocean argues that from the standpoint of population Nevada should surrender its Statehood and become a part of California or Utah, but it has a right to plead, as an offset to its decline in numbers the peculiar character of its products. It contributes to the wealth of nations, and herein differs from ordinary States as much as a spring of water does from a cistern. The market value of the annual product of Nevada is small compared with that of most of the States, but it consists wholly of metal, gold and silver mostly. Wheat, corn and such products perish with the usage. Not so with the precious metals. According to a recent report, Nevada is the fifth State in the Union in the production of gold and silver. Every dollar turned out is a contribution to the permanent wealth of the world.

If the great political party, whose principles the Inter-Ocean advocates, would deal fairly with Nevada, the population of the State would increase more rapidly in the next decade than it decreased since 1880. The principle articles of export are gold, silver, beef and wool. Of these, wool alone is protected, while silver, the value of which exceeds that of all the other products of the State combined, is treated as if it was not an American product, though everything used in its production, except the men who mine it, is protected. Let the Government treat silver as it does gold by making its coinage free at the mints, as it had been from the foundation of the Republic until 1873, and Nevada will very soon regain its lost population and materially increase the value of its products. The Government might also, in view of the fact that Nevada is not a manufacturing State and produces only one protected article, be more generous to the State when making billion-dollar appropriations, so that a portion of its arid lands could be reclaimed from the desert, and make it more inviting for settlers. It might, too, extend to it the benefits of the Inter-State Commerce Act, so that its people will not have to pay transportation to the sea-board and back for merchandise brought direct from the east.

These are a few of the many things the Inter-Ocean might advise the party which it upholds to do, if it believes in fair play, for the benefit of Nevada, whose depopulated mining camps and impoverished condition is due to unfriendly legislation.

A RIVAL OF KOCH.

Dr. Godfrey Hamilton of London professes to have discovered a method of preventing consumption and curing the disease in its early stages. He claims to have cured many patients in a private establishment, and is now giving a public test of his remedy. He asked Lord Salisbury for facilities to prosecute his experiments, but received a chilling reply. The London Gazette, the leading military paper of Great Britain, vouches for Dr. Hamilton's good faith, and demands an official investigation, with a view to applying this great discovery.

The failure of Professor Koch's lymph as a cure for consumption has caused scientific men on both sides of the Atlantic to look with suspicion on so-called consumption cures. The lymph was proclaimed an infallible remedy for the disease, but it proved worthless, and its discoverer is so chagrined at its failure that he has resigned the public positions which he held in Germany, and for the present at least has retired to private life, though he is one of the most eminent and successful physicians in Germany.

THE STATE OF WASHINGTON.

Inquiry on the subject has revealed the fact that the State of Washington owes its name to a Kentucky member of Congress named Stanton. The petition to be set off as a separate Territory from Oregon was before Congress as early as 1852, but was not acted on till 1855. The name proposed was Columbia, but Stanton said "We have already a Territory of Columbia. This District is called Columbia, but we never yet have dignified a Territory with the name of Washington. I desire to see, if I should live so long, at some future day, a sovereign State bearing the name of the Father of his Country. I therefore move to strike out the word 'Columbia' wherever it occurs in the bill and insert in lieu thereof the word 'Washington'."

News of Importance From Home and Abroad.

Dixon of Boston Beats the Australian in the Fifth Round.

Special to the Journal.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—George Dixon of Boston and Abe Willis of Australia fought at the gymnasium of the California Athletic Club to-night for a purse of $5,000 and the bantam weight championship of the world. Willis was practically unknown here and the betting before the fight was in Dixon's favor, ranging from 100 to 70 and 100 to 90. The fight had trained faithfully, and both were in perfect condition. Willis lost the first round.

The men sparred carefully for a few minutes, Dixon showing greater advantage in reach, then Dixon led and caught Willis on the jaw, sending him down. When he rose there was the liveliest kind of a rally, the men stopping each other at close quarters, Dixon plainly having the best of it. Willis hugged as much as possible.

The second round was opened cautiously by both, then "Dixon rushed but" nothing happened. A moment later the Australian planted a swinging left on the Australian's jaw. Several sharp rallies and much clinching followed. Then they kept up a see-saw on each other's jaws at the closest possible range. The round closed with cheers for both.

Third round—Both were very wary at first. Dixon then landed a left on Willis' body and a right on the jaw. Neither boy did much damage.

Fourth round—After two minutes of sparring, Dixon rushed and landed on Willis' jaw and body several times, receiving two sharp rapier returns. Both were very quick and saved themselves by dodging.

Fifth round—It was opened like the others, neither disposed at first to rush and force matters. Towards the close there was a sharp rally near the ropes in which it was given and taken for a moment, though Dixon was plainly landing harder and often. Presently Dixon caught the Australian on the jaw with his left and sent him down. Willis rose to his hands and knees and took his ten seconds on the floor. He arose a little but when Dixon rushed at him he stood prepared to receive the attack; he was not able to do much, however, in the rally that followed, and Dixon's right soon came in contact with Willis' jaw and the latter went down flat on his back. He fell heavily and lay like a log. When ten seconds had expired Willis' seconds had to lift him from the floor and Dixon was declared the winner. The colored man seemed as strong as when the fight commenced.

Report of the Bureau of Statistics.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—The Bureau of Statistics of the Treasury Department has issued a review of the foreign commerce and immigration of the United States, giving a comparison of the imports and exports for the past nine months, during which time the new tariff law has been in effect, compared with the corresponding nine months of the preceding fiscal year.

During the nine months since the new tariff law went into effect, of the total value of merchandise imported into the country, forty-seven per cent. came in free, while during the corresponding period of 1890 thirty-five per cent. was admitted free. The value of the merchandise imported free during the last nine months past for the fiscal year was greater by $30,000,000 than the value of such merchandise admitted during the whole of 1890. The exports of gold and silver during the last fiscal year were $108,000,000, and in excess of exports over imports $72,000,000; the exports of gold during the last fiscal year were $88,000,000, and the excess of the exports over the imports $68,000,000, the largest excess exports of gold in any year of our commerce. There has been a large increase in the volume of immigration into the United States during the last fiscal year. The total number arriving was 555,000, as against 451,000 during the previous year. The increase is largely from the following countries: Italy, 25,000; Austria and Hungary, 15,000; Germany, 21,000; Russia, including Poland, 28,000.

Cloudburst at Austin.

AUSTIN, Nev., July 28.—This town was visited by a cloudburst to-day and great damage was done. Clouds had overhung the mountain tops for several days, and shortly after two o'clock this afternoon steam whistles gave the people warning. In three minutes the rushing waters from the summit of the mountains had reached Main street, coming wave over wave, carrying everything before it, including bowlers weighing over a ton. The city railway was torn from its bed, awnings were torn down and the water-mains were uprooted from three feet under ground. A majority of the business houses are filled with mud to a depth of three or four feet. The water roared terrifically as it came down the canyon. The streets present the appearance of a volcanic eruption. The damage will reach $10,000. The water receded in three hours, but the indications are that another flood will come, and the people are ready to flee to the hills at a minute's notice.

Forest Fires.

SAN JOSE, Cal., July 28.—The forest fire has assumed enormous proportions. After destroying the marble works it swept over McPherson's place, leaving ruin in its wake, next followed P. M. Trask's, H. C. Keys, Gold Springs and several other places, all of which succumbed to the destructive element, then the Columbia Brewery was destroyed. From there the fire rushed onward, and at this writing is near and partly around Columbia. Men from this place have gone to lend their help to save Columbia, and still the cry comes for more help.

Later.—The town of Columbia was saved from the flames by back-firing. The fire is rushing up the Stanislaus river and there is no hope now of saving American Camp.

A Habeas Corpus Case.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—Judge Van Fleet rendered a decision to-day in the habeas corpus matter of Thomas Primrose, a convict at Folsom, who desires his freedom. In 1877 Primrose was convicted of a crime in Santa Clara county; in 1880 he escaped from Folsom; in 1895 he was convicted in San Benito county and sent to San Quentin. He was there identified as an escapee, and when his term expired Warden Aull took him back to Folsom. Primrose claimed his terms under the law had run concurrently, and Judge Van Fleet holds the point well taken and ordered the Warden to discharge him.

The Chilean Election.

LONDON, July 28.—A dispatch received here from Santiago, Chili, dated Saturday last, says Claudio Vidua has been elected President of Chili. He will assume the duties of his office the 18th of next September.

The election is regarded as a pledge that honor, energy and patriotism will mark the future conduct of the Government. The Government has 25,000 troops between here and Valparaiso and Concepcion. It can effect a junction between the troops in a single day, and give battle to the rebels. Numbers of deserters are arriving here. They say the rebels are enlisting men by force.

Accepts Pay Under Protest.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Second Comptroller Gihkeson has approved the bills of the Western Union Telegraph Company, amounting to $168,000, for telegraph service for the United States Signal Bureau, at the rate established by the Postmaster General. The Company has notified the Secretary of the Treasury that it will accept payment at the rates named under protest, until the question of legality is judicially determined.

Secretary Foster Does Not Agree With the Superintendent.

WASHINGTON, July 28.—Secretary Foster does not fully agree with Superintendent Owen in his opinion that the alien contract labor law does not prohibit the importation of skilled laborers for employment in tin plate factories. He has prepared a modification of Mr. Owen's ruling on that subject and will make it public to-morrow.

A Chilean Cruiser.

LONDON, July 28.—The Chilean cruiser Errazuriz will sail to-morrow for the Canaries. The captain will not engage a crew to go beyond Buenos Ayres.

A MIDDAY BLAZE.

Three Thousand Dollars Worth of Property Destroyed.

About 11:30 o'clock yesterday a column of dense smoke was noticed escaping heavenwards on the south side of the river about a mile and a half below town. The cry of fire was raised, the fire bell clanged, the yard engine of the Southern Pacific Company shrieked, and the steamer and Hose Company turned out. It was ascertained by telegraph from the Hospital that the fire was at the ranch of Edwin Bates. This discouraged the firemen, and the steamer, which had crossed the bridge, returned, though later, in compliance with a request from Mr. Bates, it was taken to the ranch. The fire originated in a barn, but the cause is unknown. The building, valued at $2,300, several tons of hay, several sets of harness, farming implements and two buggies were destroyed. Four horses had been taken out of the barn shortly before the fire broke out, and thus escaped being roasted. Mrs. Bates missed one of her children, and fearing it was in the barn, was rushing into the blazing building when her daughter caught her and saved her from certain death. Four large hay stacks were in danger of being destroyed, the one next the barn being so hot that it smoked. In response to a message from Mr. Bates, the steamer was taken to the ranch to prevent the smoldering timbers of the barn from setting fire to the hay stacks in the event of the wind rising. There was no insurance on the property.

Incendiaries at Work.

Last night at 11:30 o'clock as J. B. Thomas and Joe. Murphy were coming up the alley east of Virginia street they discovered a fire in the rear of Needham's furniture store, and succeeded in putting it out before any damage was done or any alarm given. It appeared to be the work of an incendiary, as a lot of brush and fine shavings used in filling mattresses was piled up against the building and set on fire. Only the timely arrival of the two men prevented what might have been a serious conflagration.

California Fruits.

The Choice Quality not for Sale in the Local Markets.

California papers compile of the poor quality of the fruits for sale in the local markets. Though the season is a good one and the orchards are overburdened with luscious fruits, only the inferior grades are procurable outside the orchards and packing houses. The Sacramento Record-Union says:

Scarcely a prime fruit enough can be obtained in the local markets to-day to make a single dish. Third-rate, rejected and ordinary fruits are to be had, but even these are high-priced. The miserable stuff we before us now is of the kind that three or four years ago we fed to the hogs. The greenish, sickly-looking peaches, that do not even blush in their shame, which marketmen offer us, are enough to turn the stomach of the lover of good fruit. A few poor nectarines, some measly apricots and a tolerable fair specimen of plums are obtainable—that is all. The housewife has her jars and cans full in order for the season's "putting up" of fruits, but the dust settles upon the glasses, the bottles are unused and the sugar still remains in the grocery bin.

Beware of Quinments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is tenfold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury and is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co.

Sold by druggists, price 75c per bottle.

Card of Thanks.

The undersigned hereby tenders his sincere thanks to the many kind friends and neighbors whose assistance was rendered and sympathies extended to him in his recent bereavement and affliction.

On the morning of July 3d, Constable Powers, Sam Gaun and M. McCoy went to Coyote Holes, on the Mohave Desert, Kern county, California, to arrest some Indians who were accused of firing a hay stack. A fight ensued and Powers and McCoy were killed and also two Indians. "Indian Doc," who killed Powers and McCoy, was captured forty miles southwest of Keeler and was brought up on the V. & T. train Sunday night by a Deputy Sheriff of Kern county, who would not risk taking his prisoner across the country, fearing the Indians might rescue him.

Dyspepsia

The lives of many people miserably affected by this disease, and often leads to self-destruction. Distress after eating, sour stomach, flatulence, heartburn, loss of appetite, a full, "all-gone" feeling, bad taste, coated tongue, and irregularity of the bowels, are some of the more common symptoms. Dyspepsia does not get well of itself. It requires careful, persistent attention, and a remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which acts gently, yet surely and expeditiously, to tone the stomach and other organs, regulate the digestion, stimulate a good appetite, and by thus overcoming the local dyspepsia, remove the systemic effects of the disease, banishes the heartburn, and restores the tired mind. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me no good. In an hour after eating I would experience a faintness, or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. My appetite, I think, was aggravated by my business, which is that of a painter, and from being more or less shut up in a room with fresh paint. Last spring I took Hood's Sarsaparilla—three bottles. It did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced. GEORGE A. PADE, Watertown, Mass.

FIFTY YEARS AGO.

'Tis fifty years ago, dear John, just fifty years ago;
Seems like 'twas only yesterday I heard you telling me so;
Do I remember sayin' yes? Well, John, we're gettin' old
And I ain't sure my mem'ry is so bold;
And yet, I s'pose I must a said a thing or two implyin',
For you were rather sassy, John, a goin' home that day.

Just think! 'tis fifty years, dear John, just fifty years ago,
Sence you and me stood up afore old Parson
Ganderblow
And said we'd have each other, shore for better or for worse.
Did ever I get sick of it? Now, John, don't make a fuss
'Bout nothin', for I 'low thur's times a bad trade turns to good,
When men's wives nuss their patience as Christian people should.

In all these ups and downs, dear John, sence
fifty years ago
We joined our hearts and hands, the Lord alone can fully know
What you have been to me, John, or I have been to you;
For life seems, though oft we're stumbled, that our poor old hearts are true,
And that I will be thinking of you, John, as you will be thinking of me When our fifty years below have long been lost in eternity.

—Brownie Ferriman in Yankee Blade.

Queer Superstitions About Stones.

The most wonderful properties were ascribed to the chimerical stones which many creatures were supposed to carry in their heads. Most readers have no doubt heard of the precious jewel which the toad carries in his brain box, and so called toad stones, which were in reality

the teeth of fossil fish, were formerly worn in finger rings as a protection against poisons, at the presence of which they were supposed to change color. It was thought that the best stones were the those voluntarily ejected by the living toads, but as the latter were not addiced to freely giving up their treasures in that way, it was necessary to procure the coveted articles by other means, and the recognized method was to decapitate the hapless batrachian at the instant he swallowed his breath.

The feat naturally demanded considerable celerity, such as could only have been acquired by constant practice; and it is not unreasonable, therefore, to assume that although the endeavors to gain possession of the jewels were perhaps numerous, they must invariably have been unsatisfactory, especially to toads. The eagle stone was considered an excellent thing to wear during pregnancy, and the swallow carried in its stom
